Jim:

Here's a draft of a letter from JEK to Sen. Stevens re the OTA C<sub>3</sub>I study.

I think that we should point out when we send it up that it is almost certain that the OTA staff will not be satisfied with SI and TK. The request zeroed in on collection system subcompartments; they are surely aware of the Byeman world.

Pete Oleson in Stillwell's office was not aware of the pendency of such a study, but is checking on the old boy network to see if anyone in DoD knows this is coming.

As I told you,  people are assessing the threat to their compartment of this study, and will get back to me today. They may want to weigh in.

(While checking the spelling of pendency, I ran across a great word: penetralia. It is defined as: the innermost or private parts of some thing or place, or the most hidden of secrets. Are we not guardians of the Community's penetralia?)
